Christian CND member and support survey

We are always keen to hear from our members, especially with views on what CCND priorities should be and where we should be putting our efforts. With this in mind, we are launching a survey of our members and supporters, to help us get to know you a little better and hear your views on various topics. You will find a copy of the survey included with Ploughshare. Please complete the survey and return it to the CCND office by Friday June 22.

EGM taking place on June 30

An Extraordinary General Meeting will take place on Saturday 30 June in Loughborough at the Fearnon Hall, Rectory Road from 16:00. The meeting will follow a meeting of the Executive and will be agreeing a new constitution, the first update for nearly 25 years. All CCND members with more than one-year continuous membership are eligible to vote at the meeting. For more information contact the office.
This issue comes to you in the season of Pentecost, a time when we pray for courage and inspiration. We need both: courage to face up to the dangers of the world today and to be brave enough to take our peace message to people who might accuse us of naivety, being unpatriotic and even encouraging Britain’s enemies. We need inspiration to find the right words and to choose the right methods to reach political decision-makers, Church leaders and grass-roots Christians.

This year we have tried to cover more big Church festivals. As even one of these events can attract twenty thousand ordinary church-goers, it gives us the opportunity to speak to many more people who have never thought nuclear weapons are a moral issue. We could be present at more if any of you could help.

We all know how austerity affects the poorest members of society and the astronomical amount of money spent on the Trident system. We would all be horrified if we thought our money was being used to build these terrible weapons, instead of making our world a better place for everyone. This is why we are hoping to engage with ICAN’s “Don’t Bank on the Bomb” campaign in ways which are not difficult for any of us to do. If we can do this with friends, so much the better.

Your support and prayers are essential and your ideas and opinions very valuable. Don’t think that because you can only do a little, we don’t want to hear from you. PLEASE do the enclosed survey. Thank you all.
A group of us have been going to the NPT PrepComs and Review Conferences for a number of years. When we began, we hoped for more progress towards disarmament which has not happened, although we were hopeful when first the “13 Steps” and then the “Action Plan” were drawn up and agreed at the Review Conferences of 2000 and 2010. But in spite of tensions that have arisen between some states, the nations, at least, are still talking, for which we must be thankful. Here are some memorable moments from the 2018 PrepCom in Geneva.

CCND always prepares a short interfaith Prayer Vigil to precede the day’s events during the first week. This year was no exception. It is not just the prayers that are valuable in themselves, but the fact that this vigil is the first item on the daily NGO calendar, and that people pass us every day and see our banner. You can see a picture of our special Interfaith Banner on the back cover. This year, few prayed with us, but many greeted us and stopped to talk. In previous years there has been an Abolition Caucus at 8 am (hence an even earlier vigil) at which we exchanged news of our lobbying and planned things to do together. Apart from an ICAN meeting the first day, nothing like this took place and we were not the only people who missed it. We know quite a number of NGO members now, Regina and Wolfgang from Germany, Susie from Holland, Dominique from France, Alyn from New Zealand and Jackie from US among them.

The first event which goes on all week in the Assembly Hall is given up to presentations from the participating nations. These speeches put forward the official stance of the states but sometimes something makes you sit up! (It can be a bit soporific). It was interesting to note which countries referred to the Ban treaty and which used this platform to criticise each other. There has been a call for a Nuclear Free Zone in the Middle East for some time and this was still the hope of many. The UK was keen to underline its position as “a responsible State” and China, its “No first use” policy. There are also sub-groups which make their own statements — The Non-Aligned Group, for instance and one we’d not heard of before, the De-alerting Group.

As well as going to hear these statements, we could also attend various side meetings put on both by NGOs and official delegates. CND’s meeting concerned action in UK to promote the Ban Treaty, delegates from UK, US, Norway and Sweden showed a video of a simulation of a verification exercise, Austria put on a side event on the Humanitarian Consequences. Diplomats from Australia, Canada, Sweden and the Netherlands arranged a packed-out presentation on Women and the NPT — not this year on the disproportionate effects of radiation on them, but on the disproportionate number of women involved in decision-making (reflected by the disproportion of men and women in the audience).

We also took part in two private lobbying meetings, one with Matthew Rowland, the UK Ambassador for Disarmament, who said that if there were a change of govt. during the year, he would be saying the exact opposite to us next year. We were able to ask that the Round Table meetings at the FCO, which we used to attend, could be resumed. The other meeting was with the Attaché to the Holy See.

WILPF’s Reaching Critical Will section produces a regular newsletter “News in Review” which is well worth reading for fuller information on both official speeches and side events. We have each copy emailed to us and will forward it to any of you who ask – enough to read in this email. We all went to the Global Council dinner on Friday and Caroline to the ICAN weekend conference before the PrepCom and the morning of the Abolition AGM on Saturday which she can fill you in with.
On August 6 1945, I was 7 years old, a second grader in primary school of Hiroshima. I was inside the wooden school building and fortunately escaped major injuries.

On my way home, carried on the back of my father who came to the school to find me, I witnessed a hell on earth. I saw a man with his skin burned heavily, peeled and dangling. A mother with heavy burns was carrying a baby, which was burned-black and looking like charcoal. Others with their eyeballs popped out or holding their protruding intestines in their hands frantically ran around, trying to escape.

The atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima on August 6 and Nagasaki on August 9 instantly killed so many people, and those who barely survived those days would eventually die one after another from the delayed effects of radiation. The atomic bombs did not allow the Hibakusha either to die or live as humans.

The Hibakusha who miraculously lived out of those days had to suffer from survivor’s guilt and hellish scenes, sounds, voices and smells burned in their mind, while struggling to make a living and facing prejudice and discrimination from the world. Hibakusha’s suffering is deep and still persisting. Even after 73 years, ‘that day’ will continue to haunt them.

So that no one in the world should ever experience that hell on earth, the Hibakusha have travelled around the world to witness to the damage and after effects of the atomic bombing, appealing, “No More Hibakusha” and “Don’t fight nuclear war, and abolish nuclear weapons”.

Patricia Pulham adds:
I too, was a little girl of 7 on August 6 1945 and I remember the excitement and pride of the radio broadcasts, although I didn’t know why. Perhaps this is why I found Michiko’s talk particularly moving and felt I had to say how sorry I was.
Two PrepCom Statements

FROM THE FAITH COMMUNITIES

A public statement issued on 25 April. Some of the key points:

“The nuclear disarmament agenda remains stalled; there are announced plans to produce new types of nuclear weapons, including those that could lower the threshold to use. Such actions stand in direct opposition to commitments made in this very forum. Nuclear modernization plans alone are slated to absorb resources on a scale that, redirected, could greatly advance progress toward the achievement of the Sustainable Development Goals: providing the basic necessities, protecting the environment, enhancing the health of women and girls and the future generations, and reducing the risks of wars and tensions around the world.

“As people of faith, we urge States parties to ... Heed the voices of the world’s hibakusha (all the victims of nuclear weapons) and recommit to the unequivocal undertaking to achieve and maintain a world without nuclear weapons, noting that the fundamental justification for the Treaty on the Prohibition of Nuclear Weapons (TPNW) is the prevention of the catastrophic humanitarian consequences of any use of such weapons.”

FROM THE HOLY SEE

“Imagine if all the resources that have been squandered and that are being poured into the modernization and maintenance of nuclear weapons could be invested in addressing poverty, inequality, injustice, education, health and environmental degradation!

In November, last year, the Holy See convened an International Symposium on a world free from nuclear weapons to explore and strengthen these connections between integral disarmament and integral human development. In addressing the participants, Pope Francis expressed concern over the catastrophic humanitarian consequences and environmental impact of the use of nuclear weapons, as well as the risk of accidental detonation as a result of error of any kind, not only condemning the threat of their use but their very possession as well.
Every year Christian CND organises an Embassies Walk around London, visiting diplomats and discussing the latest developments in nuclear disarmament. After the UN agreed the Nuclear Ban Treaty last year, we visited states that supported the Treaty, for an update on progress towards ratification.

The group gathered at St Martins-in-the-Field for a short service before our four teams went out, visiting 19 embassies in all with countries representing every continent.

As the UK continues to oppose the Ban Treaty, it is important that we not only continue to press it to engage, but also show our support for those states which are taking a lead.

The clear message from the embassies we visited was that governments around the world remain committed to the Ban Treaty and are making good progress towards ratification. Once 50 countries have ratified, the Treaty will become law in those countries.
A lively aspect of the current Christian scene in the UK is the popularity of large gatherings of believers to worship, learn and spend time together. Spring Harvest, Greenbelt, Big Church Day Out and many other festivals seem to go from strength to strength. The Bible reminds us that our faith has always included big gatherings – as in Nehemiah 8, where perhaps 50,000 people gather to hear God’s word and celebrate with great joy.

Christian CND have run a stall at several of these gatherings in recent years. It is always great to be there and to demonstrate that we are as much a part of God’s work as a music group or a missionary society. By being there we get a great chance to talk to fellow Christians, firstly about the fact that nuclear weapons are still a threat (unfortunately), secondly that God cares about this and calls Christians to get involved (unsurprisingly) and thirdly that there is hope that God will work through us to make a safer, more trusting world (wonderfully!).

Sometimes we need to use argument and persuasion to show people that our call for peace and disarmament is both realistic and necessary. Not everyone agrees, but in many cases no persuasion is needed — it is enough simply to point the facts out to people and let common sense and the Holy Spirit lead them to draw their own conclusions.

There are currently more opportunities than there are volunteers to run these Christian CND stalls, so if you feel able to get involved, please get in touch with us. And if you’re at one of these festivals over the summer, come and say hello!

Kelvin, Michael and Patricia went to Minehead with a stall for ‘Spring Harvest’ in April. Here are some photos!
On Easter Sunday Christian CND joined many others at Aldermaston, home of the factory manufacturing the UK’s nuclear weapons. The event was marking the 60th anniversary of the very first march from London to Aldermaston and is part of the celebrations of CND’s 60th birthday.

Easter is the perfect time to think of peace. Jesus’ death on the cross and resurrection enabled us to have peace with God, which in turn motivates us to seek peace in the world.

As part of the day Christian CND members and supporters had filled in Peace Doves with messages of hope and peace. These were then tied to the fence surrounding the facility.

The event finished with a vigil during which candles were lit and prayers said both for those involved in the manufacturing of nuclear weapons at Aldermaston and for peace around the world.
On Wednesday 14 February Christian CND joined Pax Christi and others for the annual Ash Wednesday Witness at the Ministry of Defence in London. The key message of the day was that the government must repent from the current position on nuclear weapons and engage with the United Nations Ban Treaty.

Despite the awful weather the turn out was very good and spirits were raised by coming together for this event. Ribbons were tied to the fence to represent the 122 nations who voted in favour of the Ban Treaty last year. At a time when we remember Jesus’ time in the desert and His temptations, we seek God to help us with the struggles we face.
It was at Bow St Magistrates court last October 2017 where I first met Chloe, Ian, Matt & Gary. They had been arrested and charged with aggravated trespass at the DSEI Arms Fair in Docklands.

As I waited outside the court with other supporters we caught site of them coming towards us from the station. Walking along confidently, rucksacks, boots, dreadlocks and all smiles when they discovered we were there to support them.

We found out that they were living at the Peace Camp at Faslane and had travelled down on the overnight bus to arrive at Bow St for court at 9.30am. Listening to them speak they were in no doubt as to what they were doing and were prepared to stand up and challenge the cruelty of the arms trade.

When I found out that they had to return to Stratford Court in January I left them my address and said they could stay at our house in Romford, not too far away from the court.

I was not sure what my husband would think. “How many?” “Four” I said. As soon as he met them he warmed to them as I did and we made them welcome, our children have all left home so we had plenty of beds. They had to appear... again in April so there was no question where they would stay. We looked forward to their next visit.

This time they spent 5 ½ hours in the dock and coming away with an enormous fine of £730 each. It seemed to me that this was so wrong. It was like David and Goliath. The arms companies making such a huge profit from deadly weapons.

We were all disappointed with the result but they were prepared to continue with their protests.

It was a sad day for us as we said a tearful goodbye to our 4 Brave Hearts, a credit to themselves, to Scotland, to the Peace Movement and to all the future generations that they are standing up to protect. God Bless Chloe, Matt, Ian and Gary.

We pray for them every day.

Every Year the Church of England holds two General Synods where the Bishops and Synod members come together to discuss the important issues of the day.

Nuclear weapons had not been on the agenda since 2007 — neither were they this February in Church House, Westminster. We believed, if possible, we should help to get them considered. We were not able to hold a meeting under the CCND name but our good friend and supporter, the Bishop of Chelmsford, Stephen Cottrell, offered to hold such a meeting and invite Synod members to attend.

We were amazed when the twelve chairs we had put out had to be increased to thirty and even more amazed when the Archbishop of Canterbury, Justin Welby, joined the group. He said that nuclear weapons needed to be discussed with some urgency and that the subject would appear on the agenda at the July General Synod in York.

He warned us, though, that he was not responsible for the wording and we might find that the committee in charge of the programme might water-down the proposal we offered, prepared by the Anglican Pacifist Fellowship.
However, the fact that nuclear weapons will now appear on the agenda of the York meeting is a real game-changer and lifts the discussion with the C of E to a higher bevel altogether.

Caroline Gilbert, one of our executive members, deserves thanks and congratulations for her persistence in making this meeting happen.

CCND will be present at the York Synod. Please tell us if you would like to know how you can help.

Signing the Citizens Treaty
How do you get people’s attention in the middle of a big crowd? We have something important to say to them, but how do you get them to stop and listen?

When some of us were at “Spring Harvest” recently, we saw that a puppet show a few stalls down really drew an audience and thought, “what about getting a performing group together: Ploughshare Players?” We looked at our stall and saw how easily it could be temporarily adapted as a puppet theatre — we remembered doing some street theatre at an AGM in Plymouth when some of us dressed up as submarines and even got televised. Our recent song and dance act at our Diocesan Justice and Peace Day (and now on YouTube, if you would like to see it, the link is https://youtu.be/Tsyw-UsRb8o) woke people up in the “graveyard” spot after lunch. We have a bit of moveable theatre, ‘Father of Lies’, prepared for “Greenbelt” and another video script “Fly on the Wall” waiting to be performed.

Who would be interested in taking part in anything like this? It does not matter where you live. You could be involved. Interested? Contact us at the office and we’ll take it from there!

Most denominations have made statements against nuclear weapons. Pope Francis has stated that the use and possession of nuclear weapons deserves condemnation. “The threat of their use, as well as their very possession, is to be firmly condemned.”

The following notice on our stall has had great effect.

How, as a Christian, do you feel about NUCLEAR DETERRENCE? Having to have the FIRM INTENTION to use nuclear weapons? (It is essential for effective deterrence.) But doesn’t this mean Carrying murder in one’s heart, when, as a Christian, One is commanded not to kill?

My grandfather was a Jew, so I am interested in Jews, and other minorities.

The Story of the Jews. Finding the words CE1000-1492
Simon Schama
Random

Very dense writing; family legend has it that our family came from Spain to Antwerp. A most appalling story; incredible cruelty from whoever was in power either Christian or Muslim, with forced conversions, straightforward robbery and murder. Curious how different the world was then; they, the Jews, had links with North Africa & the Middle East as a matter of course.

Anglicanism, Confidence, Commitment & Communion
Martyn Percy
Ashgate Contemporary Ecclesiology

The author is our fairly new Dean at Christ Church, Oxford. He gave a very good talk on Bishop Bell; a very passionate defence; (Bishop Bell protested at the blanket bombing of German cities; and has been posthumously accused of child molestation; ). During his talk he said something like ‘what is religion/morals if not about society’ so I have hopes of him. The book is a collection of essays aimed at theology students & teachers, so not quite an easy read. What comes across is how extremely various, even within one denomination, ‘church’ is. He doesn’t sound keen on ‘Fresh Expressions’ ‘Messy Church’, groups of similarly minded people that meet as house churches. A name I did recognise there was that of John Hull (Birmingham) who brought a group of theology students down to protest at Aldermaston; they did a big protest of their own, but also before that joined one of our Aldermaston Advent Vigils. Apparently John Ball puts his group, ‘of anti nuclear activists’ down as a ‘Fresh Expression’. Other essays deal more with churches holding together in spite of divergent political views; and the ‘meaning’ churches as buildings have for their local, particularly rural, communities.

Good Disagreement? Grace & Truth in a divided church
Tony Baucus, Ashley Null, Tom Wright and others
Lion

Slightly worse language-wise; difficult to get past the PC speech to what they are actually on about. The topic is important though; what is good disagreement?

I got them from my library; as far as we in Christian CND are concerned it seems to me that starting in on the theology might not be the way ahead; better perhaps nice clear information about nuclear weapons, past, present and future; the cost, the consequences for victims intended or otherwise. The theology will be their identity, no need to attack that, that’s 2 fights instead of just one, just tell them what we know with as little confrontation as possible.

Digging in the archives for this page, I found this photo of Ground Zero, Hiroshima, taken by CCND member Beryl Lankester, in 2010.

So this reminds me to remind CCND members to let us know if you’re organising a Hiroshima or Nagasaki Day event and to please get details to the office as soon as you can.

And photos after the event would be very welcome too! Photos can be sent by email to christians@cnduk.org (as high a resolution as you can, please) or by post, when I can then scan and return to you.

We would also like photos for the website. Let us know if your photos can be shared on the internet (and even social media).

We are delighted to learn that one of our past executive members will be ordained a deacon in Norwich Cathedral on 30th June.

Angela writes “I will be made a deacon by Graham James, the Bishop of Norwich, by prayer and the laying on of hands... The word, deacon, means “servant”...Once someone has been ordained a deacon they remain one forever. All of the clergy are ordained as deacons because of Jesus’ charge to his apostles to be servants to all, as He washed their feet. I will learn to be a deacon this year, and next year, God willing, I will be ordained a priest in a similar service in the Cathedral”.

We are very moved to read, “I cannot begin to name the people with whom, over many years, I have been privileged to worship and from whom I have learned so much. I rejoice in the faithful witness of all the baptised particularly those of St. Giles, Camberwell and also of Christian CND....”

Many of us, who remember Angela, are also grateful for all she contributed to our campaigns. She introduced us to the old Christian ceremony of “Burying the Alleluia” on Ash Wednesday and of resurrecting it on Easter Sunday at Aldermaston and was prominent in the group who protested outside Church House when it hosted a conference of Weapons Dealers. She was never keen on weapons and the cucumber she is brandishing in the photo of “The Queen’s Peace Party” (opposite page) – held on the Queen’s Jubilee at Aldermaston was not really threatening!

Angela can be sure of our prayers on 30th June and beyond, and we look forward to her turning up in clerical garb at one of our demonstrations!

Our love, Angela, to you and to Sue too, who will share in your calling in so many ways.
Please join us in praying for the continuation of the Iran Nuclear Deal, after the news that the United States will violate the agreement. It is vital for regional stability and global security that the deal continues.

Thank God that states continue to sign and ratify the Ban Treaty, including Austria, the first EU Member State to do so. Pray that in the coming weeks and months more states would join the Treaty.

May/June
Prayer for the leaders of the United States and North Korea ahead of their summit to discuss nuclear weapons. Pray for wisdom, courage and guidance.

24 May
Pray for International Women’s Day for Disarmament and for the many inspirational women involved in our cause.

26 — 27 May
Christian CND will be attending Big Church Day Out in West Sussex. Pray that we would have many conversations and raise awareness of nuclear weapons among those in attendance.

21 — 24 June
Christian CND Co-Chairs Martin Tiller and Martin Birdseye are presenting at the annual Church and Peace Conference. Pray for their session and for the conference as a whole.

Saturday 30 June
Pray for former CCND Executive member Angela Rayner as she is ordained in Norwich.

Pray for the CCND Executive meeting and EGM in Loughborough where we will be agreeing a new constitution for the organisation.

CCND Exec Meetings

The Christian CND Exec team held our two-monthly meeting on 17 March at CND headquarters in London. As always, we started with prayer, then after the usual formalities we welcomed a new Christian CND member, Rebecca Dillon. Rebecca’s professional life is in communications for a housing charity, and she came along to share some great ideas for how we could improve our publications, website etc. We then devoured our typically generous bring-and-share lunch before continuing with the meeting. The afternoon session reviewed recent Christian CND events and looked forward to the numerous things we are doing throughout the Spring and Summer. We then had a specific discussion about the Church of England and how we can continue to work with its leaders and members to get our message across. Our treasurer gave his usual report and we had a brief discussion about some proposed improvements to our constitution (which was last updated twenty years ago!). We finished as we had begun, in prayer. A good time was had by all and there was a real sense of excitement about all the opportunities currently facing us as an organisation.

Christian CND members are elected to serve on Exec one year at a time, at our Annual General Meeting. We are always looking for new people to get involved in leading the organisation in this way – if you think God might be calling you to use some of your talents and spare time on the team, please get in touch with us and we would be delighted to discuss it further. You could even attend an Exec meeting as a one-off to see if you like it!

The next Exec is on 30 June in Loughborough in the Parish Church. If you would like to come along, get in touch with the office and we’ll send you details, or check in the next Ploughshare Plus.
